

2017 Norma Slepecky Undergraduate Research Prize Call for Submittals Due March 17th

The Norma Slepecky Undergraduate Research Prize is endowed in memory of Professor Slepecky, a distinguished auditory neuroanatomist and a member of the Institute for Sensory Research, by her family, friends and colleagues.

Students conducting research in the sciences, engineering and computer science (where the project has a focus on applications), or psychology are eligible to apply.

The first place prize of $750 will be awarded on April 14, 2017

Students wishing to compete for the Slepecky Prize should submit evidence of their research in the form of one or more of the following:

- ♦ an Honors or Senior Thesis (near-final draft is acceptable)
- ♦ the manuscript prepared for submission or submitted to a peer-reviewed journal as senior author.
- ♦ a published or accepted abstract for a scientific or professional society meeting in combination with the text of the Oral or Poster Presentation (the student must be the senior author).

Research must have been completed under the direction of faculty at SU, ESF, or other recognized research laboratory with advisor support, while the student was enrolled at SU or ESF. Students who did not win previously can resubmit materials from the prior year.

Women students are strongly encouraged to apply.
